Gentlemen:

Referring to our correspondence regarding the package of plaster casts of Syracusan decadrachms sent mistakenly to your address, when it was intended for our Society, which you have previously informed us you have no record of having received, I beg to advise that the consignor having traced the package through the Italian postal authorities informs me that they hold your receipt for it. For your information and that you may know what these casts look like, I am enclosing a reproduction showing one of these decadrachms. It seems very strange to us that such a package could have been received by you and entirely disappeared from the knowledge of your postal clerk.

Very truly yours,

Secretary
